

DISCLAIMER

Site Terms and Conditions:-

This site is intended only to provide information about the services of Colonial Concepts.

By using this web site and associated links and email, you the "user" agree to carry out your own further investigation into any claims made by this site by its "operator" (J.W. Topping and associated businesses and family trust) or companies, incorporated or non-incorporated associations, or individuals listed on this web site, prior to acting on any information, claims, or advice hereon.

The "operator" of this web site does not warrant the information supplied on this site or any links or email provided within this site. As this web site relies on the internet, we cannot be held responsible for any damage to software or hardware, or loss of information contained thereon. All software and hardware which accesses this site or its links and email, will be used at the risk of the owner of that property or licensed software end user.

Any virus, trojan, worm application or similar file or files which are encountered whilst using this site, receiving email or following links, will be at the risk of the user, and therefore the "operator" or any party listed on this web site will not be held liable for any loss whatsoever.

All photographs and logos/graphics shown are the property of this web site operator or the noted party and shall not be reproduced in any format without the written permission of J.W. Topping or the respective copyright owner. Any links made to this web site will be only allowed with the written permission of the "operator".

You should not encounter any "pop-ups", "spam" or other infiltration of electronic communication as a result of accessing this site. If you do, please contact the operator.

Your email address, if provided to us, will not be distributed or used for mass mail-outs or unrequested contact by the operator unless allowed by you.

By using this web site and links or email, you agree to these terms of use.

If you do not agree to these terms then please do not use or enter any other pages.